Some history of the Færgeskroen and its surroundings

The Færgeskroen was built in 1823. One of the reasons for this must have been the launching of a market called Hadsund fair, the 1st of May 1838.

The first market day was held on the south side of the Mariager Fjord, and the next day on the north side. People and fair have always belonged together, and so has naturally an inn.

Without doubt another reason has been the removal of the custom-rights from Mariager to Hadsund, and back again. In 1581 moved the customs from Mariager to Hadsund-South, because our King Christian the IV meant himself cheated for custom fee and Asisse@. One supposed, that there was a busy smuggling activity going on in the fairways around Hadsund. It was in particular with German beer and hops a.s.o., and this had to be stopped by the presence of more attendants. The people of the area were very angry at these Anosy parkers@, so something must have been true about the king's suspicions. In 1781 the customs were moved back to Mariager, in the same year as the ferry was established in Hadsund. That leads us to the conclusion of the inn=s name AFerry Inn@.

The first inn was built by the inn keeper and ferryman Peder Nielsen from Rostrup. In 1856 the inn was rebuilt by his son Niels Pedersen. After his time the inn had many different owners. Konrad Overgaard Aruled@ the inn from 1953 until 1969. In the same year he sold the inn to N.P. Nørgaard Jakobsen, the inn burned down in autumn 1969, but was rebuilt and opened in new shape in 1970.

In the year 1900 there was a big board on the roof, which told everybody that there was space for 50 horses in the stables, so the travellers could spend the night there. At that time the inn consisted as well of farming, grocery and bakery.

In 1883 the Randers-Hadsund Railway was established with the station opposite the inn. The old bridge, which had a big influence on the inn, was opened the 19th November 1904.

The present owner of the inn, Jens Nørgaard Jakobsen, bought the inn in 1972. The Ferry Inn has since been rebuilt twice, in winter 1976 to 1977 and in winter 1986 to 1987.

From 1st April 2017 Jens Nørgaard Jakobsen has leased the running of the inn to Mrs Conni Wested and Mr Ulrik Bjerregaard.

Today as well as in the old times people comes from near and far to enjoy the Inn's hospitality.
